

NORDIC LIFE SCIENCE INNOVATION CHALLENGE

5-6TH SEPTEMBER 2015

Are you an aspiring bio-entrepreneur passionate about innovation? - If, then seize the opportunity to be part of a team tasked with the challenge of translating a life science idea into a valuable product or service in only two days!

Building on the success from last year, the Nordic Life Science Innovation Challenge invites you once again for a unique, two-day workshop in an aspiring and fun setting. We challenge you to turn a Life Science idea into an innovative and valuable business case. You will be working in cross-disciplinary teams of young professionals from Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Finland. During the workshop you will have professional mentors from the Nordic life science scene to guide and help you.

Each team will pitch their commercialization proposal to an experienced jury panel, who will select a winner. The team presenting the winning pitch will further get the possibility to kick-start your business idea by presenting at the Nordic Life Science Days, 9th September in Stockholm.
